Accreditation is our Friend (not Fiend)

by Nathan Reeves

Vegetables are our friends too! We want ice cream to be our friend, and it is, for a few minutes. Then it's not. See vegetables are our friends because they help us be healthy. We adults understand this. We might not like it, but we understand it. Eating vegetables is like spending today on tomorrow, while eating ice cream is like selling tomorrow for today. The former is a good definition of wisdom and the latter of foolishness.

Accreditation is like eating vegetables. While we'd all rather just go to recess, working to improve the Academy is spending today on tomorrow. It's an investment. While ice cream (and recess) is good, eating vegetables (improving what God has given us) is important. There is a difference. School improvement has always been a driving force at BRCA. We've now taken the step to have Tennessee Association of Christian Schools help us improve.

In the early 1990s, Bill Rice III saw a need to educate Bill Rice Ranch staff children and to help local children as well. So, in 1993 Bill Rice Christian Academy was started to fulfill this purpose. In the coming years, BRCA's purpose was refined to "give each student an excellent education and a desire to do right." Knowledge and character became our focus. Now we seek to take the Academy to the next level by seeking accreditation through TACS. We seek accreditation to improve the quality of our educational program, to promote our credibility among our constituents and in the community, and to help parents qualify for the Freedom Scholarship.

How will accreditation improve the quality of our educational program? Accreditation will help our teachers grow in their teaching skills. A major requirement involves training teachers. This is accomplished through thinking through goals and objectives, in-service training, additional education college classes, and conferences and seminars. All of this will help teachers help their students.

How will accreditation promote our credibility among our constituents and in the community? While we are not looking for a stamp of approval, some prospective parents who don't know us yet need someone else to verify that we do what we say we do. Our standardized testing scores already do this, but this will be another layer that some parents need.

How will accreditation help parents? While improving the quality of our educational program helps parents' children, some parents need the financial help a Freedom Scholarship could potentially provide. While we might gain some new families because of this, our main purpose is to help our current families.

We are now in "Candidate Status"! This is just another step closer! Please pray for us as we seek to take the Academy to the next level. The accreditation process usually takes about a year. We started this past Spring and hope to be fully accredited this coming Spring. And you might want to remind us every once in a while that accreditation is our friend, not our fiend!
